JAP SUBMARINE IS LOST WITH 44 MEN

Efforts to Bring Up Craft From Sea Continue
WARSHIP HIT BY THE "43"
Is Second Undersea Boat Lost in Past Seven Months

(Associated Press)
SASEBO, Japan, March 19.—Hope for the rescue of any of the four officers and 40 men in submarine 43 of the Japanese navy, which sank today 186 fathoms of water, virtually was given up this afternoon.
Efforts to bring the craft to the surface are continuing. The 800 ton vessel went down suddenly, following collision with the warship Tatsu-ata, during minor maneuvers three miles out of Sasebo harbor.
Several hours later the naval officers ascertained that while attempts to rescue were proceeding, there was little hope there would be any survivors.
Submarine 43 constructed two years ago, is the second under-water craft of the Japanese navy lost in the past seven months, another having sunk off Oboe last August.
The naval port of Sasebo is on the east coast of the island Kyusu, just south of the island of Hondu, largest of the Japanese Archipelago.

TOKIO, Japan, March 19.—A small dirigible caught fire and fell today northeast of Tokio, killing a crew of five men. The body of a commander was the only one saved. The other four probably leaped on the blazing airship before it plunged into a forest. Naval circles, deeply affected by the loss of the submarine were further depressed by this ship.

American Force Sent To Capital City In Honduras

(Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 19.—A landing force of 167 sailors and nine officers from the cruiser Milwaukee at Amapala, Honduras, is being rushed today from that port of Tegucigalpa, the Honduran capital, where wild disorder prevails.
The landing force was asked for by American Minister for the protection of the American legation and consular offices, which have been fired on by drunken soldiers over whom the Honduran ministry lost all control. Consular advices from Tegucigalpa also said many innocent persons were being shot down and looting was rampant.

NABORS ARRIVES TO CONDUCT REVIVAL

Rev. A. H. Nabors, of Cullman, has joined the revivalist forces now leading meetings here. He is assisting Rev. A. L. Mathison, pastor, at the 9th Street Methodist church. Rev. Nabors will preach tonight at that church on the theme, "The Way of Life and the Ways of Death."
Rev. Nabors is assisting in a number of neighborhood meetings, and speaks at the Louisville and Nashville shop gates at noon time.
Tuesday night at the Ninth street church, the visiting evangelist spoke from the text: "Unless ye repent, ye shall likewise perish." In opening the minister said that certain people received the reply of the text when they had asked about the fate of certain other people. The speaker said people now days were talking about the Teapot Dome scandal a great deal, and many apparently overlooking the fact that sin, any sin, is the greatest of all calamities and also that a sin may be in the lives of many who are treating it lightly.
"Sin always precedes calamity" said the preacher. He explained that sin preceded the fall of the Roman Empire, the destruction of Sodom, and the turning loose upon the world of the world war. Sin was shown to have a "perishing" power or influence, on body, mind and soul.
Three services are being held daily at the Ninth street church, one at 10 o'clock a. m. one at 2:30 o'clock p. m. and the third at 7:00 o'clock in the evening. The song services at this revival are being led by the choir as directed by Prof. E. W. Laxson.

SERVICES ARE HELD AT THE SHOP GATES

Increasing interest was shown in the revival at Central Baptist church Tuesday. Services were held at the shop gate at noon. Rev. Higgenbotham and Mr. Elliot visited Albany schools Tuesday morning for chapel services. The song services are of much interest.
Earnest Ralston of Lookout Mountain, sang "Alone," as a solo and it was a good message. The text was taken from Nehemiah 4, "For the people had a mind to work." Emphasis was placed on the people's obligation to pray and do personal work now, that protection was due the young people by establishing a family altar in every home.
"I wonder if Jesus does not weep over the conditions in Albany as he did over Jerusalem. We should be so burdened for the lost, that others would see for moral acts that something is wrong. The young people are Albany's greatest asset. Let us try to build the walls of protection around them, that are so badly needed."

NORTH DAKOTA FALLS IN COOLIDGE LINE

(Associated Press)
FARGO, N. D., March 19.—Returns from 448 out of 2,078 precincts in North Dakota for the presidential endorsement gave: Coolidge 36,355; LaFollette 6,998; Johnson 1,716.

Georgia Votes

ATLANTA, Ga., March 19.—Voters of Georgia went to the polls today to express their presidential preferences in a state wide democratic primary with two candidates, William G. McAdoo, a native Georgian, and Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama, in the field.
Miller S. Bell, in charge of the McAdoo campaign, declared in a final statement today that the former secretary of the treasury had made such progress in Georgia in his recent speaking tour that his success was assured. Mr. McAdoo spoke in several cities during last week and this week.
R. C. Gordon, who is campaign manager for Senator Underwood, declared Mr. Underwood would win by a majority of 246 county unit votes out of the 412 in the state. There are 160 counties in Georgia and the candidate receiving the popular vote in each county will be entitled to the county's unit vote. Each unit vote calls for the selection of a delegate to be named by the county's executive committee, following the primary.
The 412 delegates selected will meet in state convention April 23.
At this convention the national delegation, composed of 28 men or women will be selected for the democratic convention to be held in New York in June.

There is unusual interest throughout the state in the primary. Mr. McAdoo, who was born in Marietta, Ga., has stumped the state as a native Georgian.
Mr. Underwood, who, his supporters claim, is a neighbor has, with his friends, taken his appeal for suffrage with the slogan of "Born in the South." The weather outlook early today indicated a fair spring day. Roads in the rural districts were reported in fair condition and early returns were expected.

Meininger to Be on the Job Monday

A letter was received this morning by W. W. Rahm, president of the Albany-Decatur Chamber of Commerce from W. J. Meininger, stating that he will be in the Twin Cities in a few days and would be ready to assume his duties as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce Monday morning, March 24.

KIWANIS TO MEET

The Morgan Kiwanis Club will hold its weekly luncheon at the Lyons Hotel Thursday afternoon.

WORTHINGTON HERE IS VERY OPTIMISTIC ON SENATE OUTLOOK

Leader of Ford Fight Believes Offer Will Be Accepted
IS ELATED OVER THE HOUSE ACTION
Senator Heflin to Lead Campaign Before Committee

Very optimistic over the outlook for the Ford offer in the senate, Colonel J. W. Worthington, who has spent much time in Washington in the interest of the development of Muscle Shoals, spent a few hours here this morning between trains. While here he held an impromptu meeting with members of the Tennessee River Improvement association, which organization has worked long and earnestly for the Ford offer.
Mr. Worthington naturally was very much elated over the success of the Ford bid in the house of representatives and expressed confidence that the offer would be approved by the senate as well. He did not know exactly how soon the bid may be expected to be the subject of hearings in the agricultural committee, but was convinced the time would not be long.

Norris Opposes
The agricultural committee chairman is Senator Norris, who is openly opposing the Ford offer in the interest of a government operation plan, which calls for development of a super-power project, including many of the larger power sites of the nation. Another member of the committee is Senator Heflin of Alabama, an avowed friend of the Ford offer. Senator Heflin will be depended upon to steer the bill through the committee, of which he is a member and bring it to the floor of the senate for a vote.

Nearly all of the democratic strength in the senate is believed to favor the Ford offer, while there is strong sentiment also from the republican side. Senator Lodge, the republican leader, is said to favor the offer. The so-called administration senators are thought to be very favorably impressed with the McKenzie bill accepting Ford's bid.
The Ford offer will have strong leadership in the senate. It is problematical now just what part Senator Lodge will play, but aside from him, Senators Underwood and Heflin of Alabama, and Senator Capper and Ladd of the republican side are expected to carry much of the burden of the fight.

Injunction Case Delayed One Day

The injunction sought by parties seeking to prevent the erection of a fence on property on Moulton street intended for a baseball park, due to have been asked of Judge Osceola Kyle on Wednesday, will be sought on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock in the office of Judge Kyle on Bank street, Decatur.

Cement Plug Put in Oil Well Here

Operations have been suspended for a few days at English Oil Well No. 1 near Austinville, so as to give opportunity for the cement plug recently placed in the bottom of the well to harden and hold back the water, until the over 3,000 feet depth of the well can be pumped dry. The placing of the plug was found necessary as the flow of water seemed to be greater than the capacity of the baler used to take the water from the well.

BANK SHORTAGE PROBED

(Associated Press)
MEMPHIS, March 19.—Investigation was underway today of an alleged shortage of $41,958.88; said to have been discovered when state and federal reserve bank examiners checked the accounts of the Union and Planteds bank and trust company of this city.

FINANCIAL AFFAIRS OF SLAIN WOMAN TO PROVIDE CLUE; HOPE

Dr. Zoe Wilkins Found Dead With Rusty Knife Beside Her
POLICE DELVING INTO HER PAST
Matrimonial Ventures May Furnish Light Regarding Death

(Associated Press)
KANSAS CITY, March 19.—The financial affairs of Dr. Zoe Wilkins, pretty and wealthy adventurer in matrimony, was being delved into by police today in an effort to solve her mysterious and gruesome murder, discovered here last night.
Dr. Wilkins, 35, a practicing osteopath, and once the wife of the late Thomas W. Cunningham, aged banker of Joplin, Mo., from whom she obtained more than $300,000 before he divorced her, met death in her home sometime since Saturday night.
A gash on the forehead and throat from a rusty pocket knife lying beside the body told of the slaying. The woman's dress was torn. Her face was mutilated.
The slaying was revealed when Mrs. L. F. Palmer, owner of the house, went to collect the rent.

Wilkins kept hidden in her home securities amounting to more than $100,000, according to Jesse James, her attorney. He said she lived in constant fear of her life.
Dr. Wilkins had spent lavishly after she induced her bankerhusband to turn over to her a larger part of his wealth.

Lately, however, there were indications that she was not so prosperous. A student of osteopathy at Kirksville, Mo., Zoe Wilkins, at 19, began her matrimonial adventures, marrying a student from whom she was separated in Texas about a year later. Next she married Dr. C. K. Garring from whom she was separated.
In 1916 she married Cunningham, the Joplin banker. She immediately gained control of a large share of his wealth. Friends of the banker then intervened and a divorce resulted.
Her chauffeur companion, A. W. Marseffel, now an automobile dealer of Colorado Springs, Col., was her next husband and this venture also ended in a divorce.

DAUGHERTY PROBE HAS VERY DULL DAY

(Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 19.—The Daugherty investigating committee had a brief, dull and drab session today because Senator Wheeler had a bad cold and remained at home.
Will A. Orr, former private secretary to Governor Whitman of New York, was waiting to be questioned further but the committee turned from Orr to hear Maco Stewart, a Galveston lawyer, who complained in his testimony yesterday that the department of justice had been remiss in prosecuting lotteries and T. D. Dawkins, a Texas postoffice inspector.
The Attorney General's counsel announced that he did not wish to cross examine Orr and he was excused indefinitely. The meeting then adjourned and the hearings will be resumed at ten o'clock tomorrow morning.

Four Stills Are Raided in a Day

Deputy Sheriffs W. R. Turner and H. M. Wiley, accompanied by Game Warden Brown, hung up a mark for others to shoot at yesterday afternoon when they raided four stills about eight miles east of Falkville. No arrests were made, the operators having made their get away. Much mash and beer was found and destroyed.

WOOD HELD OUT AGAINST OIL BRIBERS

Hamon's Daughter Will Fight for His Name

OLIVE BELLE HAMON

Here is Olive Belle Hamon, sixteen-year-old daughter of the late Jake Hamon, Oklahoma oil magnate, as she arrived in Washington, with her violin as her only baggage. She ran away from her home in Chicago determined, she announced, to go before the Senate Investigating Committee to clear her father of the charge that the Republican nomination for the Presidency in 1920 was offered Leonard Wood if he would agree to make Hamon his Secretary of the Interior. The committee refused to hear her.

COUNTY BAPTISTS WILL MEET HERE

The speakers on this occasion will be State Secretary D. F. Green, Dr. W. D. Powell and Evangelist Gid Higgenbotham, who is conducting the revival at the Central Baptist church. There will be several addresses followed by open conferences on the different phases of the work.
All ministers, church and Sunday school officers, leaders of societies, church organizers and interested Christian workers of any nature whatever are urged to be present prepared to ask and answer questions on problems of church work. While leaders and workers are urged to come all members of Baptist churches are cordially invited.
That the ladies of the W. M. S. may know how to prepare those expecting to attend will kindly notify Pastor C. C. Davison as soon as possible.

Dog Head Received for an Examination

The Tennessee Valley laboratory has received a dog's head for examination from Dr. W. P. Burkett, of Tusculum, County Health officer for Colbert County.
The head was taken from a dog that had been killed, in the belief the animal was suffering from hydrophobia. The dog had bitten several children, stated Dr. Burkett in his letter to Miss Nina Elderidge, the director of the laboratory.

Candidate Offered Delegates, Witness in Probe States

GILMORE HAD NO INFORMATION

His Knowledge Was Only Hearsay, He Declares

(Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 19.—The atmosphere at the Chicago republican convention in 1920 was surcharged with stories of oil deals the oil committee was told today by Tiffin Gilmore, deputy secretary of the state of Ohio, who was at Chicago as a Wood supporter. One story was, Gilmore said, that oil operators had proposed to throw delegates support to Major General Wood if they were permitted to name the secretary of the interior.
He declared he knew nothing about it first hand, but that it was common talk that a deal had been consummated between oil operators and the possible nominee.

"Who were the operators?" he was asked.
"I do not know, except they were big operators in the western district."
"Who made this proposition?"
"I do not know. I could not say. The proposition was made to General Wood."
In a conversation he had with Czar Thompson, an Ohio republican leader, who was the nominee of his party for governor in 1922, Gilmore said there was some discussion of a land claim Thompson was interested in.
"What land did you refer to when you asked Thompson if he had the land," asked Senator Bursum, republican, New Mexico.
"Did you gather the impression that Mr. Hamon (Jake Hamon republican national committee from Oklahoma) had anything to do with it?"
"I don't know what companies were in it. I do think, however, that a young man named Molton told me Hamon was mixed up in it."
"You really know nothing of these matters except gossip on the street?"
"I do not."
"No man who knew ever told you?"
"No sir."
Asked by Senator Walsh, of Montana, if he knew what reply General Wood had made, Gilmore said:
"I was told he walked up and down in his hotel and said it was a shady deal, that he would have nothing to do with it and that they would have to defeat him."
With that the witness was excused.

Darden Testifies

James G. Darden, friend of President Harding and man of far-flung interests, testified about the Teapot venture in which he, himself, was interested along with John F. Champion and Robert G. Taylor.
He said they had made claim to 160 acres, without a fence or scratch upon it and had been promised some sort of adjustment by Secretary Payne, in the Wilson administration, but never had applied for a lease and eventually had been ejected by marines after the reserve had been leased to Sinclair.
Darden declared he had learned through gossip, two months in advance, that Sinclair was out to get the lease. An arrangement was made with the Mutual oil company to develop the claim and Darden's lawyer, Robert Brice, told the committee the development company became known the Sinclair lease had been consummated.
Their hope, he said, was to contest the legality of the Sinclair contract, but when Darden took the matter up with President Harding and Attorney General Daugherty he found that Interior Secretary Fall was determined to keep the Mutual off the reservation by force, if necessary.

The committee expects at tomorrow's session to again question G. D. Walberg, former secretary to Harry F. Sinclair and Friday to recall Sinclair, himself.

Those who are held down are easily held up.

When gentle spring does come, she will be more welcome than for many years.

It will be shown some of these fine days whether or not Harry Daugherty is gettable.

Better be a booster ten days and drop dead, than tear down for a period of 10,000 years.

Washington may not be exactly a literary center, but plenty of fiction is coming therefrom.

Some cabinet members doubtless wish all the oil in the Teapot Dome would catch on fire and burn up.

Tennis players would understand it if they were told that Asa Candler and son have won two love games.

If Ananias and Sapphira, his wife, were in Washington they would doubtless be called on to help out in some of the numerous investigations.

If good literature consisted in hair-raising tales, some mighty good sellers could be taken in short hand from witnesses as examined recently at Washington.

DEEDS OF CHILDREN THAT INSPIRE FAITH

Child human nature is almost always of good quality. Lately a strong proof of this was seen in the action of Katherine and Elizabeth Hanley, 12 and 14 years of age respectively, of New York.

These children discovered a fire near their home. They knew two babies, one 10 months old, the other two years of age, were about to be burned in the fire. Both the young heroines rushed to rescue the babies. Katherine, the younger, perished in the flames, but not until she had seized the two-year-old baby, but both died together and beside them a faithful dog.

Elizabeth, age 14, escaped with her life and saved the life of the 10-months-old baby.

There could have been no mixed motives moving those little saviors. Adults are sometimes accused of being moved to good deeds by other than unselfish motives, but children, never.

Grown people would have rushed to the aid of the endangered babies. They would have known that not to do so would have marked them as cowards. Nothing but pure love could have moved the children, Katherine and Elizabeth.

A noble instinct to save the helpless, that moves all people to some extent, caused those children to forget danger and death.

How terribly ended the life of one of them, but also how beautifully. Knowledge never learned of schools, but a kind of divine instinct moved the children.

The action of those little girls of New York is a challenge to older people to examine themselves and to look carefully to see if they have not lost something of their heroic, unselfish spirit. Many were born with much the same self sacrificing nature of those children, but has that precious heritage been retained?

If the instinct to protect the weak is now leaving the race under the influence of false cynical teachings, or for any reason, if there ever was a golden age, it belongs to the past.

But if all over the land people are appearing to have the same spirit as moved the little New York girls, then the golden age is still with us and all the people may enjoy it some day.

The action of Elizabeth and Katherine Hanley makes it easier to believe in the lovability of human beings, and inspires a stronger faith in the humanity.

THE MUSCLE SHOALS LOBBY

The prospect of an inquiry into an alleged Muscle Shoals lobby in Congress excites the inquiry: What is a lobby? There also at once arises the opinion that Congress should investigate, not the Muscle Shoals lobby, but the whole field of lobbying at Washington. The singling out of Muscle Shoals and the Ford offer for the object of an inquiry strikes the average citizen as proceeding from enmity to Mr. Ford rather than from enmity to lobbying. There also arises the thought that there is a legitimate manner in which advocates or opponents of any legislation may exercise themselves for or against it, and there is an illegitimate manner in which legislation may be influenced one way or the other. It is apparent at once that if there has been any improper influence brought to bear upon Congress with respect to the Ford offer it has been brought by the opposition, for the opposition hopes to benefit privately by defeat of the Ford offer; whereas the supporters of the Ford offer have the public welfare as their avowed object. It is a notable fact that, while the self-seeking interests have been in every way trying to defeat the Ford offer, Mr. Ford himself, who stands the foremost chance of making a personal profit out of operating Muscle Shoals, has maintained no lobby nor sought in any way to bring pressure to bear upon Congress. The advocates before Congress of the Ford offer have been the representatives of public and not of corporate groups. If they had not been there, it is almost an assured fact that the Ford offer would have been buried forever and the public investment in Muscle Shoals would have been a total loss.

On March 9, in an able article in the New York Times, Senator McKellar, of Tennessee, in discussing the subject of "invisible government" at the national capital, defined a lobbyist as follows:

A lobbyist is defined by the dictionary as one who seeks personally to influence members of a legislative body. More accurately a lobbyist may be defined as one whose occupation is for hire to influence legislation. Of course, not every one who appears and seeks to influence legislation personally is a lobbyist. Any one whose business or whose individual interest is affected by proposed legislation has the legal and moral right to come here to Washington, to tell his story and state his contentions in Congress or any committee thereof, and to consult with representatives. It is only where a person's occupation or avocation for pay is to influence legislation that such a person is properly called a lobbyist.

As to the activities with especial regard to Muscle Shoals, Senator McKellar said:

Invisible government has perhaps not been more active in any direction, except in tariff and revenue matters, than it has been in the Muscle Shoals disposition question. Those who have favored the leasing of the Muscle Shoals plant to Henry Ford have had a lobby here for several years. It has been a very vigorous, active and persistent lobby. On the other hand, the water power interests, the fertilizer interests, the manufacturers' and other allied interests have had their representatives of invisible government very busy, so far fighting Ford to the last ditch.

It is noted that Senator McKellar does not condemn the efforts made in behalf of the Ford offer, for he observes that manufacturers and agents of special interests were the original lobbyists, so that representatives of the public welfare have been forced in self-defense to adopt similar tactics. There is this distinction to be drawn, however: Whereas the agents of private interests prefer to work covertly and in secret; those who represent the people or any portion of the people, by organization or otherwise, prefer to give their efforts and their arguments the utmost publicity. And so, when proposing a cure for the evil results of "invisible government," Senator McKellar advises that all lobbyists be forced to register as such, and to subject their arguments, their personnel, their affiliations, and their purposes to the utmost publicity. "Publicity is the best remedy," says the Senator.

The friends of the Ford offer are very willing that there be this publicity. They themselves have nothing to conceal, and they have reason to believe that the motives, alliances and methods united in opposition to the Ford offer could not withstand publicity and retain their vigor or effectiveness. Therefore, they do not fear an inquiry that has the truth for its basis, and not enmity to the Ford offer. — Age-Herald.

Fairbanks' New Play Sensation of Screendom

To the character Robin Hood in Douglas Fairbanks' newest photoplay sensation for United Artists release, entitled "Douglas Fairbanks in Robin Hood," the star and producer has given of his best. As Robin Hood he is the embodiment in all ways of that notable personality of eight hundred years ago as we of this ultra-modern day would understand and appraise him, while the production itself, coming to the Princess Theatre today and Thursday, realistically presents the vivid color and stirring atmosphere of that romantically adventurous past.

"Douglas Fairbanks in Robin Hood" represents a real literature of the screen, genuine and historically accurate in costume and setting, and truthful in every small detail as well as in important basis.

It blends facts and fantasy, history and legend, and combines the glories of poetic and artistic beauty with an authoritative interpretation of the spirit of romance and adventure prevailing in the Twelfth century.

It gives a vividly real impression of the romance, the conflict of emotions and the aspirations which made so

A GOOD LAXATIVE
Black-Draught Recommended by an Illinois Lady, Who Says It Helps Her. — "Fine for the Liver."

St. Elmo, Ill. — "I have used Black-Draught for three years," says Mrs. J. W. Boyd, a well-known member of this community. "I was visiting a friend who had used it for some time. I was in need of a laxative and I had a burning in my stomach. I was constipated. She gave me a dose of Black-Draught and it helped me, so I used it from then on. It certainly benefited me. I think it is fine for the liver, too. I am glad to recommend it."

"One day our pastor was visiting us, and he said his system seemed clogged and asked me to give him something to take. I gave him Black-Draught. He was much pleased with the results, and bought a package, himself."

Constipation forces the system to absorb poisons that should be thrown out, causing pain, discomfort and tending to undermine your health. Black-Draught helps to relieve this condition by acting on the bowels, and by regulating the liver when it is torpid, thus helping to drive out many poisons in an easy, natural way.

Don't take chances! At the first indication of constipation, take Black-Draught. Costs only a cent a dose. Your local druggist, or dealer, sells Black-Draught. NC-153

IMAGINATION is a wonderful thing, especially and most particularly—SHE thinks—when it turns a string of quite ordinary beads into HEARTS and, by reflection, transforms everything else into hearts, also. But wherein lies the mainspring of the magic? Does it reside within the head—HER head—or in her heart? Is it a glorious day-dream of happy times to come? Or is its origin in memory? Are these fancied hearts but memories—each of some one instant in radiant hours?

Reproving Him.

"Quoocomplukity, glubush, globbity, waump! gobbled a greedy customer in a rapid fire restaurant."

"Say," chided Margaret, the waitress, "We like to see a guy enjoy his dinner, but we kinda hate to hear him."

"Your husband is very absent-minded, isn't he?"

"Oh, my yes," Last night he got up to get me a glass of water, and he drank it himself and went back to bed."

Minister: "So you want to get married?"

Mild Mr. Shrimp: "Not particularly, but this lady does."

"That fellow is a regular crank, isn't he?"

"No wonder, He is in summer vaudeville and has to do six turns a day."

Correct this sentence: "I feel it my duty," whispered the ticket scalper, "to tell you that this seat I'm selling you in the twenty-third row is behind a post."

God made the country. Man made the dangerous curves.

A woman's idea, according to Gladys, of being prepared for the emergency is to have three lettuce leaves and a can of sardine always in reserve.

After a man has been married 10 years it isn't love that makes him work 10 hours a day to get money enough to pay the food bills his wife runs up. It is half habit and half fear.

Some husbands are so henpecked that they would rather eat a bad egg for breakfast than take a chance on telling friend wife that she didn't know what she was doing when she bought the eggs.

After all the nations are induced to disarm, perhaps something will be done about getting the thugs to give up their artillery.

It is well to keep in mind the fact that a man is not necessarily contemptible merely because you happen to hate him.

That wailing sound you hear is just a glasseye balling for its mate.

A thing of beauty is a joy forever if she doesn't spend too much of one's money.

MARCH 19

Premier Stolypin read before the Russian Duma the ministerial program of legislation on March 19, 1907. It is said to have contained more liberal measures of government than any heretofore proposed in Russia. "The Government," he declared, "is creating such standards of life as will change Russia into a legally constitutional state, the chief task of the ministry being to coordinate the old and new principles of government." In the Russian Duma, as in other Continental European parliaments, the president sat at the center of a semicircle of seats, those on his right being occupied by the conservatives, those on his left by the radicals, and those immediately in front by the moderators, or independents. This is where the terms, "the right," "the left" and "the center" originated.

WOMAN SLAYERS SEEK FATE IN CARDS.

MRS. DELVA GAERTNER and KATHERINE MALM

Two laughing women in the Cook County Jail in Chicago—one sentenced to imprisonment for life for murder and the other awaiting trial for a murder to which she has confessed—toy with the cards and seek to read their fate. Neither seems worried. At the left is Mrs. Delva Gaertner, a divorcee, who admits she killed Walter R. Law, a married man, in a "mock duel" in his automobile, after a synthetic gin party in the cabaret district. At the right is Mrs. Katherine Malm, "wolf woman," convicted of murdering a watchman when she and her husband were caught in a robbery.

ORNAMENTAL IRON SHOP IS OCCUPIED

Light, air and lots of room are three big features about the new one hundred and eighty by one hundred foot ornamental iron shop of the Decatur Cornice and Roofing company as just completed and occupied today for the first time.

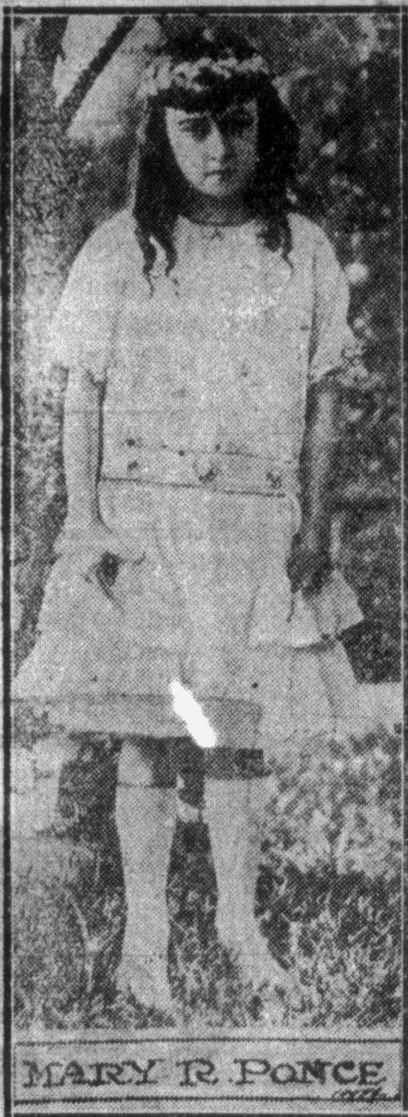

Superintendent Johnson of the company and one of its stockholders stated that all the best modern ideas available for such structures had been used in building and equipping the new shop. This shop stands near Second street and just opposite the Albany Silk mill. There is a space of one hundred by four hundred feet reserved between Second street and this new building as completed for a large building that is later to house the sheet metal department of the company and its offices. It may be some years before such a building will be erected.

The largest of the large buildings to be on the site of the company near the silk mill, and it is nearing completion, is the structural steel plant, which stands just south of the ornamental iron shop. That plant, is one of three units, each to be 80 by 240 feet in size. The ornamental shop is so built as that it can be easily extended.

Between the two big shops just mentioned will stand the large crane, on which will be carried 10 tons of iron at one time as picked up from the Louisville and Nashville cars, when they are placed on the side tracks of the company.

The entire six acres of the company on Second street is soon to be enclosed by a fence, Mr. Johnson stated. Such another work room can be found nowhere in this section, as that of the ornamental iron shop. Its floor of wood rests on solid concrete. The

Ponce de Leon's Kin Found in Florida.

Mary Ramondine Ponce, of St. Augustine, Fla., takes a leading part in the annual Ponce de Leon celebration there. She is believed to be the first actual descendant of Ponce de Leon to be found in this country. By tracing ancient records in Seville, Spain, and with the help of the Historical Society of St. Augustine, Miss Ponce's ancestors were found to have possessed lands ceded to them by the Spanish Crown. In 1824 the family disposed of these holdings.

Republicans in Iowa Mark Time Pending Brookhart's Wishes

(Associated Press)

DES MOINES, Ia., March 19.—The contest for delegates to the Republican National convention from Iowa has developed a condition that has had no recent parallel in the modern political history of the state because of the attitude of United States Senator Brookhart. He is recognized as strong in his home state and all political sides concede that he will have a great influence on the delegation. But thus far Senator Brookhart has not indicated any leaning toward any of the announced Presidential candidates. While preparations to do battle in the state and county conventions have been made by all factions, yet things have been moving quietly, pending some word from the Iowa senator as to his wishes.

In the meantime the state is seething with politics of a statewide nature. Brookhart is seeking reelection to a full term and has as an opponent former Congressman Burton E. Sweet who ran fifth in a six-man contest when Senator Brookhart received the republican nomination to fill the seat made vacant by the resignation of Senator W. S. Kenyon in 1922. The primary comes on June 2.

Mr. Sweet has been campaigning in the state for the last six months and is showing signs of fulfilling his prediction that he would make "the most strenuous campaign ever conducted by a candidate for U. S. Senator." A third candidate for the senatorial nomination is Vernon Lester Hague, of Fairfield, Ia., described on his cards as a "traveller and dilettante." He also described himself as a stockman and Princeton graduate.

Congressman Sweet in opening his campaign sometime ago declared the issue between Senator Brookhart and himself was "Radicalism against Progressivism."

The republican gubernatorial contest has developed into somewhat of a free for all affair, for no less than six candidates already have signified their intention of running for the nomination.

They include J. H. Anderson of Thompson, speaker of the house of representatives; A. J. Banks of Monticello, leader of the taxpayers' league and a "dirt farmer" candidate; W. J. Burbank of Waterloo, treasurer of state; J. D. Buser of Conesville, state senator from Muscatine and Louisa counties; John Hammill of Britt, lieutenant governor, and Glenn C. Haynes auditor of the state.

Each of the six candidates claims a fairly well defined group of supporters and if none of the six gets the 35 per cent of the total primary vote required by Iowa primary law to nominate a candidate, the nomination must be made in convention and will narrow down to the task of delegate-getting.

Then there are numerous candidates for lieutenant governor, state treasurer and state auditor, but as yet no candidates have appeared to contest for the offices of secretary of state, attorney general or secretary of agriculture, except the present incumbents.

All of Iowa's present congressmen have taken out papers for renomination, but several will have contests on their hands in the primary.

Walter McWilliams Visitor Here Today

Walter McWilliams, a prominent citizen of Athens, and state examiner of the books of county officials, is at the Morgan County court house in connection with his official duties.

Mr. McWilliams said he was now and always had been enthusiastic for this location for a great city.

"I had as leave or rather have the Twin Cities for a location, in the event Ford gets the Muscle Shoals, as the 'Tri-Cities' said Mr. McWilliams. "Your people are right in the center of the Valley, close to the Tennessee river, and on two as good trunk line railroads as are to be found in the world."

Mr. McWilliams said he read The Daily regularly and complimented it as a newspaper.

A Banquet That Was Almost a Tragedy

Three years ago at a banquet I was stricken with acute indigestion. Two doctors worked over me for an hour before I came to. I had had severe colic attacks before, but nothing like that. No doctors or medicine gave me permanent help until a friend, who was at the banquet, advised me to take a course of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which I did with wonderful results. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. By druggists everywhere. Adv.

An L & N Train 530 Miles Long

The distance, "as the crow flies", from Cincinnati to Montgomery is about 500 miles. If all the rolling stock equipment of the L. & N.—62,000 freight cars, 1,330 locomotives, 880 passenger cars, 724 cabooses and various units of work equipment—were coupled together they would form a solid train 530 miles long.

Try to visualize this huge train. Walking at the normal pace of 25 miles a day, it would require over 21 days for a man to travel from one end of it to the other.

Think of the tremendous money investment this equipment represents—about $115,000,000. Imagine the expenditure required to maintain and operate this equipment scattered all over the 5,000 miles of the L. & N. system, and to keep the roadway and tracks in good and safe condition—about $110,000,000 per year.

Let this picture help to keep clear and fresh in your mind the importance of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad to the South—serving the people of 13 states; paying $75,000,000 annually in wages to 52,000 employees; fostering industries of farm and factory and contributing to state, civic and educational institutions through the payment of over $6,000,000 in taxes. Preserve these thoughts in your memory and you will be able to appreciate more fully the individual as well as the public benefits that come from the undisturbed operation of this great transportation system.

"I decided to take Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup and now I can do the hardest kind of work in the house or out of doors without a bit of trouble."

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

NEW YORK, March 19.—Our "independent artists" are breaking down more conventions than those of color and line. Having stimulated the artists to independence of thought and action, they have taken up art exhibitions. The timorous spectator at art exhibitions has been ruled out of existence. At the exhibit being held by the society of independent artists, men have been requested to keep their hats on. "Uncovered heads indicate reverence of art, not love of it," they explain, "and that's all wrong." Following that declaration of iconoclasm they have followed with insistence that visitors must not go on quiet tiptoes and whisper inaudibly, but that loud approval and brazen comment are desired. Moreover, if a group looks at a picture and likes it, they will be expected to burst in handclapping. And why not? It's done at the movies occasionally.

Whether or not William H. Ferris will ever be able to live down the stamp set upon him by his fellow seniors at Columbia, it is difficult to say, but it is certain that this apparently wholly worthy young man is starting in life with a pretty terrible handicap. For he has been voted the Adonis of the University, the handsomest man within its walls, and has already had several offers to go into motion pictures following the announcement of the vote. As captain of the rowing crew, everything was fine for him until this happened.

Here is shock and reminiscence of days gone by. The newest and smartest fabric on the Paris boulevards, which consequently soon will be the newest and smartest on Fifth avenue, is alpaca. Regular, plain, old-time alpaca, which our grandmothers wore. It is particularly popular in silver gray and navy blue, the same old colors, remember? And navy blue serge of our own affections only a few short seasons ago is back into vogue, according to authentic reports.

One of the first New York young women to take advantage of the recent law permitting American women to retain their citizenship after marriage to a foreigner, is Cornelia Vanderbilt. Miss Vanderbilt, who is to marry the Hon. John Francis Amherst Cecil, first secretary to the British Embassy in Washington, has declared her intention to remain a voting American, and as her fiancé has announced that he expects to spend the rest of his life here, it is reported that he, too, will later on become a citizen of this country.

Some Americans abroad are engaged in a plan for the removal to New York and other cities on this side of the Atlantic of about twenty of the abandoned churches in the old parts of London, which were to have been demolished. Some of these edifices are pre-reformation but most of them were built by Sir Christopher Wren after the great fire of London. Lovers of churches and lovers of fine architecture will rejoice that these fine buildings are to be put in their entirety on good sites here rather than be built into modern structures or allowed to go to ruin in London slums.

But we came by some Wren churches here in New York at an early date. St. Paul's Chapel on Broadway, St. John's in the Bowery and St. John's Chapel were built from the lost plans of Gibbs, based on the designs of Wren, while the Brick church on Fifth avenue is as good a specimen of a Wren church as is to be found anywhere.

You too can have a Clear Skin!

WHY worry and fret—wish and hope? Why be jealous of those with clear, soft skin? It is within the reach of all. A rich, ruddy, wholesome complexion is possible. It is not something that is just beyond our reach. Neither is it something that requires years and years of toil to acquire. That clear, soft skin is within the reach of each and every one of us. Not like precious stones available to but a chosen few—clear, soft skin—rich and pure—the sparkle and brightness of youth—is available to each and every one—rich and poor—young and old.

S. S. S., since 1826, has been casting impurities from the system and building red blood cells. Imperities make "that complexion you long for" impossible. Red blood cells send rich blood coursing through your veins. Clear, soft skin is simply the result of a healthy red blood condition. Within the grasp of all—Yes—S. S. S. will help you have the very skin you seek.

When the skin is hard and drawn—the cheeks sallow and withered—the figure listless and lifeless—the system is not on edge. Something is wrong. Right that wrong. Possess that clear, soft skin—bring the youthful glow back into the cheeks. S. S. S. will do it.

Miss Ethel Rose, 423 E. Water St., Painted Post, N. Y., writes: "All that has been said in favor of S. S. S. is true as applied to my case, as it has certainly purified my system and my complexion is now clear."

S. S. S. is made of carefully selected and scientifically prepared and proportioned herbs and barks. It is sold at all good drug stores. The large size bottle is more economical.
